THE UNITABLE DENTAL
SIMULATION BENCH ALLOWS YOU
TO PERFORM PRECLINICAL EXERCISES
IN AN INTUITIVE, COMFORTABLE AND REALISTIC WAY.

The bench represents the technological avant-garde in the field of work simulation as it allows you to "operate" on the "mannequin / patient" using the equipment of a real dental unit. The operator console is mounted on an arm with a double joint and is easily movable to obtain the ergonomics of the chosen work. The manikin head positioned in the center of the structure recreates the ideal operating field to perform simulations. The bench is also equipped with an operator lamp and is designed for the installation of monitors, PCs and e-learning softwares.

The dental skills bench is in high quality steel, with powder coating treatment, which is highly resistant to wear and disinfection. The furniture is equipped with drawers and doors with key locks.

The EDI Faro halogen operator lamp. Easy to handle, it is equipped with a protective screen.

The console is designed to accommodate up to 5 instruments with extra-long hoses, self-balancing and without traction. Intuitive multi-function control panel with membrane surface and capacitive touch technology.

The silicone manikin head is equipped with interchangeable dental arches and resin teeth. Easy to move thanks to the possibility of a 360° rotation on the shaft axis and 90° reclination in the rest position.

The ergonomic and multifunctional foot pedal allows the activation and adjustment of all the instruments on the console.
